"The truth of your future lies in your hands, in your ability to cast off the demons of the social credit score system's lies and it is upon you to make the effort to rebuild your own live and live to see your own success as a merchant of truth..."
- Emil, 2047

We extend a heartfelt invitation to all those who have been overlooked and marginalized, reaching out to individuals whom the social credit score system has unfairly labeled as untrustworthy.
These are the souls who have been expelled from the realms of acceptable society, banished through the formidable Eastern Gates of Eden, and now find themselves wandering aimlessly in the desolate landscapes of justice.

In this stark wasteland, where uncomfortable truths are buried and forgotten, we seek to illuminate their stories and restore their voices, reminding the world that every individual deserves a chance at redemption and recognition, regardless of the labels imposed upon them.
We extend a heartfelt invitation to those who feel weary and worn down, to those who have lost hope and find themselves adrift on the desolate, rugged path that masquerades as the interstate toll road, a route that promises a return to a semblance of normalcy.
This journey, fraught with obstacles and challenges, can often feel insurmountable, leaving many feeling abandoned and isolated.
Yet, we urge you to recognize that you are not alone in this struggle; there is a community waiting to embrace you, offering support and understanding as you navigate the rocky terrain of life's difficulties.
Together, we can forge a new path, one that leads not just to recovery, but to a renewed sense of purpose and belonging.

Our intention is to extend a supportive hand, assisting you in overcoming the ego barriers, the various constraints and existing restraining orders that have been set before you.

We aspire to act as your shamanic guide, leading you through the desolate landscapes of your current challenges and toward a transformative journey.

This path will take you to a new sanctuary, nestled within the enchanting realms of redemption, where the allure of senior discounts awaits in the legendary multidimensional Red Forest.

Here, amidst the vibrant hues and mystical energies, you will find not only solace but also the opportunity for renewal and growth, as you navigate through the complexities of your journey toward a brighter future.

There are moments when one cannot help but express frustration over the disheartening reality that certain communications are met with indifference or even hostility.

This sentiment is particularly evident when dealing with the less-than-cordial representatives from the so-called Deep State of Ma Bell, who, rather brusquely, recommend that I resort to a standard trunk cable call from my local post office. Their suggestion seems to stem from an apparent weariness with the barrage of complaints they receive, particularly regarding the financial responsibilities tied to these calls.

GIOVANNI METRO STOP GALLERY

It's disconcerting to think that the very act of reaching out to offer up assistance can be overshadowed by the exasperation of those on the other end, leaving one to ponder the complexities of modern communication and the often impersonal nature of the phone company's views on customer service.

The haunting echoes of muffled cries resonate from those who cling desperately to the illusion crafted by the social credit score system, a construct that has led them to believe in the possibility of redemption and reintegration into the esteemed circles of polite society, nestled within the metaphorical gated community of Eden.

This enticing promise, however, is shrouded in a labyrinth of obscure stipulations, one of which demands that the ostracized individuals openly acknowledge the malevolence of the hurtful truths they once uttered.

Furthermore, they must embark on a journey of atonement, engaging in a form of redemption therapy reminiscent of ancient rituals, complete with sackcloth and ashes, all while confined to the makeshift FEMA camps that line the entrance to the grand Eastern Gates.

Here, in this stark juxtaposition of hope and despair, the banished souls grapple with the weight of their past transgressions, yearning for acceptance yet ensnared by the very system that promised them a second chance.

The undeniable reality is that even the staunchest of believers eventually come to the sobering realization that the dream they hold dear is, in essence, a stark and unvarnished deception; a narrative steeped in history, originating from the primordial era of the First Humans.

This tale, rich with the wisdom and folly of ages past, has been meticulously handed down through countless generations, from father to son, tracing its lineage back to the Dreamtimes of the 1950s.

It serves as a poignant reminder of how myths can shape our perceptions, often blurring the lines between aspiration and illusion, leaving us to ponder the true nature of our hopes and the stories we choose to embrace.

The concept of the dream transcends mere deception; it embodies a profound malevolence, serving as a stark representation of the insidious nature of the corrupt corporate and social credit score systems that pervade our society.

I find myself grappling with a complex mix of disdain and empathy for those who cling to this illusion, individuals who, despite the overwhelming evidence to the contrary, articulate their beliefs with an almost reverent fervor, as if they are defending a sacred truth.

Their unwavering commitment to this fallacy is reminiscent of travelers lost in a desolate landscape, desperately trying to chart a course through the treacherous terrain of misinformation.

The grip of the social credit score myth seems to tighten with each passing day, ensnaring its adherents like a hidden patch of quicksand, where every step they take only serves to pull them deeper into its deceptive embrace, illustrating the perilous nature of blind faith in a system designed to manipulate and control.

The pervasive deception of the social credit score system has left countless individuals adrift, their spirits wandering aimlessly through desolate landscapes, far removed from the illuminating shores of enlightenment.

Many have found themselves trapped in a seemingly endless cycle of despair, unable to navigate their way back to the sacred path that leads to redemption, often referred to as the troll road, which winds through the enchanting yet treacherous terrain of the mythical Red Forest.

This forest, rich with vibrant hues and ancient wisdom, serves as both a sanctuary and a labyrinth, where the lost souls must confront their inner demons and societal judgments in order to reclaim their sense of purpose and identity.

As they traverse this mystical realm, the journey becomes not just a quest for personal salvation, but a profound exploration of the very nature of truth and the human experience, challenging them to rise above the constraints imposed by a flawed system.

In the event that you find yourself in a moment of solitude, and a nearby phone booth begins to ring, consider embracing the opportunity to accept a collect call from your spirit or shaman guide.

This ethereal connection is not merely a whimsical notion; it serves as a beacon of hope, extending an invitation to explore a transformative journey.

Your guide seeks to provide you with a complimentary map, a symbolic tool designed to navigate the treacherous quicksand of despair that has ensnared you in a wasteland of uncertainty.
This map is not just a piece of paper; it represents a pathway leading you back to the freedoms and joys that life once promised you, a divine right that may feel distant but is still within your reach.
By taking this chance, you open yourself to the possibility of rediscovering your true essence and reclaiming the vibrant life that awaits beyond the shadows.
As members of the Palmdale Chapter of the formerly outlawed "Jesuits of Truth," we find ourselves in a unique position, one that does not compel us to assist you directly.
The journey we each undertake is deeply personal, a solitary path that belongs to every individual navigating the desolate landscapes of painful realities.
Each lost soul must confront their own truths and make the choice to embark on this transformative journey.
It is through this personal exploration that one can hope to rediscover a sense of belonging and ultimately find their way back to a new sanctuary within the enchanting embrace of the Red Forest, a place that symbolizes renewal and hope amidst the chaos of existence.

The destiny of your future is firmly within your grasp, hinging on your capacity to break free from the deceptive narratives perpetuated by the social credit score system.

It is essential for you to summon the determination to dismantle these falsehoods and take proactive steps toward reconstructing your life.

By doing so, you can pave the way for your own success, emerging as a beacon of truth in a world often clouded by misinformation.

Embrace the challenge of redefining your path, and let your commitment to authenticity guide you as you navigate the complexities of modern society, ultimately allowing you to thrive as a merchant of truth.
